ortion to their respective interest. An eccentric old Irishman named Redmond Sarrett created a sensation on the river Saturday by sailing in a queer looking boat which was inothing more than a large log, sixteen feet long and twenty-two inches wide, scooped out until it would hold about ten bushels. The craft carried two sails, one of which was nothing but rags.

James Alvin Ellinger, the infant son of Johnny and Mrs. Edlinger, died Sunday evening at 9 o'clock aged 16 days. One week ago Sunday the little fel-low was christened. The functal will take place to-day at 3 o'check at Congressional Cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Ellinger have the hearifelt sympa-thy of a host of friends in this third bereavement of this kind.

Mr. Bartley Campbell would do well to put his play of "The White Slave" in the hands of a gen-tleman. Mr. Thomas V. McDonough, who is the alleged business agent, should retire for a season to some hospital and cure himself of disnepsia and gangrane. His hoggish manners and disposition to get as for away from the truth as possible would seem to fit him for a "bawler" for a side show at a circus.

Housekeepers, Attention. Many a housekeeper may be thoroughly well-bred, and yet not be able to make good bread, and as the soggy dough comes from the oven she sighs and wonders why it esnnot be light and white and palatable. If she would only ne the "Ceres" four she would have no difficulty. The "Ceres" is a Minnesota ratent process fiour, made from hord spring whens, and is known by all who have ever used it as one of the fitnest and best brands of flour in existence. It has taken numerous premiums, and the miller claims one barrel of it will produce forly more loaves of bread than any other flour in America. Meser, william M. Gait & Co., corner of First Street and Indians avenue, are the sole wholesale agents for its sale in this city. Ask your grocer far it, and if he does not keep it leave him order it for you. This firm also deal lings number of other celebrated brands of flour second only to the "Ceres," among which are Sterling's St. Louis Fancy, Minneola, Reliance, and Golden Hill. and wonders why it cannot be light and white

Ford's Opera House,

None of the productions at the Madison Square Theater have been more successful than the play of "The Professor," which will be presented at Ford's Opera House to-night. It has never been produced here before, and will now be given by the original company, headed by Mr. W. H. Gillette, its author, a graduate of Yale College, who appears in the litte role, and the original Madison Square sconic effects. Charles Frohman, general manager of the many Madison Square attractions,

VICTORIA MINOR'S FUNERAL

Strange and Impressive Scene at the Church-The Murderer Penitent. The body of Victoria Minor, who was murdered by her husband last Wednesday, was interred at the Harmonial Burlal Ground Sunday afternoon in the presence of a tremendous concourse of pectators. At 10 o'clock Sunday morning the spectators. At 10 c'clock Sunday morning the body was brought into the Meunt Zion Church and placed on a bier, where it rested until 3 o'clock. Jerusalem Order No. 39, or Good Samaritans, or which the deceased was a member, had charge of the funeral arrangements and kept watch round the bier. From the time the body was first placed in position until it was moved prior to being laid in his last resting place & continuous stream of humanity surged into the sacred edifice. It was a strange sight. Young and old, men and women, boys and girls,

SOME WITH SCARCE FILTRY RAGS enough to cover their hideous nakedness, others some with scarce filthy hads enough to cover their hideous nakedness, others mayly decked in blue and yellow and other flaunting stuffs and ribbons, men and women so black that coal would seem to be light compared to them, and girls so white that they would pass for the most pronounced blondes anywhere—all were impelled by the one morbid desire of seeing the murdered remains of their sister. Some of the mourners must have come from places har distant from the District line, as the dust on their garments and shoes showed they had traveled many a mile. Probably the most striking thing about this many-colored cortege was its intense solemnity. Although the block was so densely packed

that it was impossible to approach without patiently working one's way through the crowd, sn operation to the reporter decidedly unpleasant and unsavory, not a single sargry or indecent word was heard. All seemed to be awed by the thought of the unfortunate young woman cut down so suddenly in her prime. In the church naught was beard save the gentle noise made as the crowd slowly worked its way up to the bier, and the sots of the women as they viewed the face rigid in death. At three o'clock Rev. Gibbois Treach ascended the pulpit and DELIVERED THE FUNERAL DISCOURSE.
He took his text from Jeremiah Xv, 0: "She hath SO DENSELY PACKED

He took his text from Jeremiah xu, 9: "She hath given up the glost, her soul has gone while it is yet day," speaking about the life and character of the deceased. Brief addresses were made by other friends of the deceased, then the procession was formed to the cemetry. The pail-hearers were Stephen Underwood, Edward Fields, James Marshall, and John Bed. The casket was nearly covered with flowers, some of them of the choicest and most elaborate description. Minor's mother and sister were present, and seemed to be greatly affected by the tragic event. During the services FOUR WOMEN FAINTED.

affected by the tragic event. During the services FOUR WOMEN PAINTED.

Short services were held at the grave, and then earth hid from view the last of the unfortunate woman. Minor yesterday during the time that the services were taking place was in a very nervous and excited condition. He requested the prayers of the paster and congregation, and told Mr. Treach that he knew nothing against his wife, and believed her to be innocent of any crime.

PROFESSOR ALEXANDER DEWOLOWSKI, Planist and Vocalist, assisted by his daughter, Miss Isabella DeWolowski, has reopened his Musical Institute, at 116 M street, corner Tweifth street northwest. His new and simplified method of instruction is the best in existence. It saves years of practice: It teaches how to read music at sight, and trains the voice to its highest culture for operas, concerts, or the parlor. DENTIST - HOWLAND DENTAL ASSO-CLATION, No. 211 Four-and-a-half street, 3 doors north of Fennsylvania avenue, east side.
